Fake News Detection using NLP

Phase 5 (Complete project)

Problems

Detecting fake news using Natural Language Processing (NLP) is a challenging task due to the complexities and nuances of language, as well as the evolving tactics employed by those who create fake news. Some of the key problems faced in fake news detection using NLP include:

- > Lack of labeled data
- ➤ Evolving tactics
- Misinformation vs. disinformation
- Contextual understanding
- Biases and neutrality
- Multimodal content
- ➤ Adversarial attacks
- ➤ Imbalanced datasets
- ➤ Generalization
- > Ethical concerns
- Privacy concerns
- > Interpretability

❖To address these problems, researchers are continually developing more sophisticated NLP models and incorporating techniques like deep learning, transfer learning, and explainability to improve fake news detection accuracy and reliability. However, it remains an ongoing and evolving area of research and development.

IMPORTANCE

- Preserving trust in information
- Preventing harm
- Minimizing the spread of false information
- Business and brand protection
- Scientific and academic integrity

DATA PREPROCESSING

- Cleaning
- Totenization
- 🖶 Stop word removal
- Stemming/lemmatization
- Handling missing data

FEATURE EXTRACTION

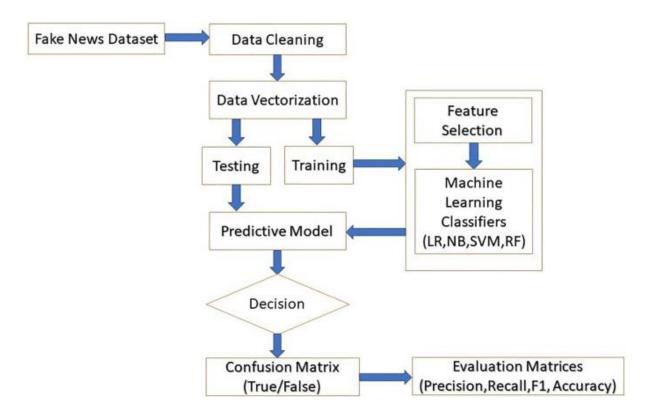

Techniques

- ✓ TF-IDF (Term Frequency-Inverse Document Frequency)
- √ Word Embeddings (e.g., Word2Vec)

MODEL SELECTION

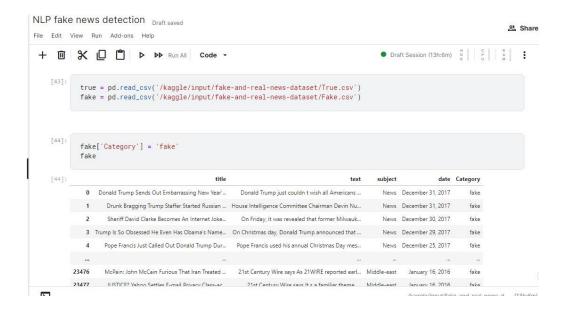

- ✓ Random forest classifier
- √ Logistic regression

CONCLUSION

- Fake news has increased in recent years and it has caused a lot of harm to the society.
- This research project aimed to develop a model using the techniques of NLP and ML to detect if a news article/headline is fake or not and identify which methods give better output.
- Finding the accuracy and credibility of information and news that is available on the internet is critical nowadays.
- It has recently been discovered that various online platforms significantly influence disseminating misleading information and spreading fake news to serve several dreadful purposes and benefit many people.

- ❖ Because of the plethora of spreading and sharing data on the internet, there is a growing demand for automated false news identification systems that are accurate and efficient.
- ❖ A future extension of this work can be to employ attention-based deep learning approaches.
